

PROFILE

To Our Valued Customers:

In the midst of the issues regarding the coronavirus concerns, we want to remind our clients that R&L Plumbing is and will remain open and actively servicing the needs of our clients.

First and foremost, we want to remind our clients that our technicians are following safety practices to protect themselves and the people they are serving when performing services.

Now more than ever is our chance to show our customers that we are here to serve them, especially in difficult times. We appreciate the hard work and dedication of our plumbers, as soldiers on the front line of our industry. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact us. We appreciate your business and for your continued support as we face this challenging time.

Sincerely,

Larry Bustillos, President/Owner
R&L Plumbing, Inc.
